The word literally means "shining" . The project aims at shining life of people. We go to a place called Refugee Colony Village in Barang. We teach children and also train women. We also spread awareness about various schemes and initiatives of government. We take care of all round development of villagers . We train them in such a way that they at par with other sections of society.

We visited there after a long time and we found that many of those children have lost their interest in studies and also they have lost their parent's support in this aspect. As a part of motivation we spent some time with few of them and taught them few basic things and we saw few of them showing good interest. We also had talk with few young villagers and two of them took few suggestions about learning English for getting a job as tour guide.
