26-oct-15

Trees are God's best gift to mankind. They not only give us oxygen to breathe but also provide us numerous other products which help us to sustain life on earth. It also gives livelihood to people who reside in the vicinity of forests. The greenery of plants is adorable. A group of dedicated volunteers go for a plantation drive every sunday,with an aim to make the kiit campus the greenest campus in entire India.

This was the third drive of the group. This time we had to clear a area where grasses and other small bushes had grown. A patch of land near campus -9 was cleared. Due rains a lot weeds had grown which were to be removed in order to plant trees. Further, we are planning to do the same work and also will plant more trees in this area.
