PURPOSE: To visit old age home, to interact with the old age people and make them feel happy for sometime.

When I visited the old age home, I got to know that being old is not easy. I could actually see the pain and loneliness in each person's eye. There were 5 members over there. I sat with a uncle who is a retired English professor from Kolkata. He was not interacting much, so I was continuously speaking about myself and how I use to spend time with my Grandfather and started asking him about his profession , interest in food n daily life schedule n I got to know about his profession and hoe he use to scold the students, spend time with his friends when he was young and found a childish side of him that he loves Chocolate, so I promised to get him one in the next visit.

On a brighter side I found that except back problem he is not suffering from any disease, no medication is going on and no restriction on food has been implemented on him. So I finally winded up taking his blessings
